Hi Alex, and thank you for supporting my mission to share peace and clarity through Tarot!

Tarot cards help us connect with our inner wisdom. Traditional Tarot decks contain 78 cards, including the 22 Major Arcana cards representing major life lessons, phases of life, or universal archetypes. The 56 cards of the Minor Arcana deal with daily life and temporary concerns. The Minor Arcana cards are divided into 4 Suits, similar to playing cards: Cups (Chalices/ Emotions/ Water), Pentacles (Discs/ Coins/ Earth), Wands (Rods/ Staves/ Fire), and Swords (Words/ Truth/ Air). Each Suit includes 14 cards, Ace (1) through 10, and the 4 Court cards: Page (Seeker/ Daughter), Knight (Apprentice/ Son), Queen (Artist/ Mother), and King (Mentor/ Father).

In your reading below, you'll notice Pentacles are represented as Crystals, valuable and portable physical items. In this reading, I'll share a general interpretation of each card, then describe its specific message in response to your current question. Please note that while I don't read reversed cards, I include reversed interpretations or shadow aspects where I sense they apply.

For your Career reading, you asked, "I am looking to return to seeing more clients again. What do I need to know now? Will this be the right move for me now? Will [this career option] be financially successful for me, between now and the beginning of 2021, say February?". I drew 3 Tarot cards and one oracle card. From the Tarot, I drew Perspective (the Hanged Person), the Page of Crystals (Pentacles), and the Magician. Two Major Arcana cards out of 3 drawn indicates that the career choices you make now will affect your path a great deal, and positively, as we'll discuss below. The single Minor Arcana card in the suit of Pentacles affirms that we're reading about your work and resources.

Across these cards, we see a transition from a person allowing the present situation to unfold without intervention, to a person learning the skills to complete their upcoming task, and finally a master in their element creating their circumstances and directing energy with ease. For what you need to know, the summary is "let it be". Will this be the right move? Yes, with changes to any prior business models you used. And for whether this would be financially profitable in the next 3 months, yes, so long as you balance the expression of your various skills and talents.

Your Messages

For your first career question, "What do I need to know now?", I drew Perspective (the Hanged Person). The Hanged Person (12) may signify frustration at a lack of progress or inability to redirect the situation. On the other hand, the Hanged Person is likely asking you to allow the situation to unfold. While the idea of someone hanging upside down may be worrisome, the person's expression is calm. A change of perspective will provide better insights.

While you may struggle with a need for a precise plan of action, the Hanged Person suggests you suspend your mental striving. Release the need for a perfect plan and exact answers. People with more air and fire in their charts, especially in the areas of career and finances, may find it more difficult to “let it be”. Expect a clear, beneficial direction to present itself in the next two weeks. To answer your question, you need to know it’s okay to watch the situation unfold for the next two weeks. Then you can move into action.

Alex, you asked next, “Will this be the right move for me now?”. The Page of Crystals (Pentacles) is a fortunate person who is happiest in familiar surroundings. This card asks how you can improve your home or finances--perhaps organizing, turning a hobby into a paid side job, or simply rearranging for better flow through your home. The Suit of Pentacles concerns career, finances, home, and the physical body. Pages require more education and experience to prepare for the Knight’s adventure. Beware a lack/ survival mindset and resistance to change. Apply this card to your situation by taking a beginner’s mindset for a new perspective.

You have many marketable skills and talents (Pentacles pun intended). You also have a great deal of experience exercising your abilities in profitable manner. To answer your question, yes, seeing more clients will be the right move if you approach it with the fresh perspective of the Hanged Person and an openness to new ideas from someone unexpected. While I don’t generally see the court cards representing their traditional age groups in my readings (I see them more often as personality traits), in this case, listen when younger folks, potentially even people with no experience in your field, join the conversation regarding your business.

For your final question, “Will [this career option] be financially successful for me, between now and the beginning of 2021, say February?”, I drew the Magician. The Magician (1) teaches us to use the tools we already have to create what we desire. By focusing carefully on the life you want and making decisions that support it, you’ll align your actions and intentions for your highest good.

Again, you’re familiar with using your expertise to create value for others. Remember the Magician traditionally has all 4 tools/ suits on the table in front of him at the same level. To answer your question, yes, seeing more clients again will be financially successful in the near future if you thoughtfully balance your energies. Too much fire, water, earth, or air can ruin anything. I feel there's a person who recognizes when you're exercising too much of one over the other and speaks up, even if the message isn't well-timed or well-delivered. Take care in this area and you'll enjoy the benefits of diversifying your work again without overloading your schedule.

Finally, I drew, "I trust my ability to manifest money" to add depth to your reading. Looking beyond the surface, you must also trust your ability to correct imbalances and striving--this will prevent overwork and ensure you enjoy sharing your talents in other ways again.

Summary

Moving from the thoughtful stillness of the Hanged Person into the active alchemy of the Magician will require a careful accounting of your energy and time. Allow a fresh perspective to direct your client engagement (and keep firmly in mind that you'll still have the same number of hours in each week). Making mindful choices to balance your career and finances, as in the 2 of Pentacles, comes to mind as I interpret your reading. I look forward to news of your progress!
